

Change

As fear grows, Hate that wants to hate follows
The mind of a racist frustrated,
Hell-bent on hatred
Scared in to scaring those who fear,
For the lives of their dear
They poison themselves with evil ways,
Their punishment will last throughout the days
This disease will leave your vision in a haze ,
We need to open their heads to our hearts showing them our welcoming rays
Some have to sadly die for this cause,
But others are rewarded for their chores
Hopefully this disease will be cured before it's too late,
And before the world is completely ran by hate.
